mander in approaching the Merican commander in approaching the Merican railway.

He said his reports showed that 17 to 17 American soldiers had been captured but did not give the number of casual-treatments of the Merican forces.

Secretary Lansing had no official the information on which to discuss the Carrival affair and, according to Mr. Arrestondo, also was without knowledge of whether any Mexican lowns actually had been occupied.

Washington is Angry.

While the government had no official confirmation early today of Mexican response that American and Mexican proper were no a battle Wednesday with heavy losses on the American side, there was stir of grim purpose about the war and state departments.

The note was deposited at the foreign office while M. Skouloudis was on his way back from the resignation of the ministry.

Before it became known that Greece had decided to yield, it was said in government circles that it would be an impossibility to accede to the demands. Agamenton Schillmann, former Greek minister at Washington and now a member of the chamber of deputies, on being asked what the government intended to do, replied:

How can we voluntarily renounce the sovereignty of our country?
